5. E-Cell

5.1. Campus Activities:

We conduct open house session on regular intervals. This semester we till now have conducted only one open house due to Summit Preparations but the next semester we are preparing to have atleast four open house sessions.

In these open house sessions all the campus entrepreneurs gather and discuss about their works and the facilities they are getting from the campus authorities and discuss about the rules in the campus.

We also conduct Google hangouts at regular sessions which can cover the lack of open house sessions and help us in maintaining the contacts with the campus entrepreneurs committee.

We are also conducting Startup- 101 Lecture series which will resume its working in the next Semester. In this series we are directing the campus junta through the pathway of making a startup happen and in a big way.

5.2. E-Summit:

We have successfully conducted this year's E Summit which was held from 22- 24 August. During the summit we held many talks, workshops and competitions. Especially the talk of the Advitya Sharma, IITB Alumni and Co-Founder of housing.com and that of Ashutosh, former Journalist and Political activist were a great success.

We held talk of many other known personalities also like Akshay Saxena, Co-Founder, Avanti Fellows, Aakif Merchant, Dasra and Anand Kumar, founder of Super-30 group. We also conducted the talk of Padma Shree Winner Prof. K. Vijay Raghavan.

We also conducted many workshops like IDEAS generation workshop which aims to introduce a few new concepts that the participants could Learn, Practice and finally implement too. Hence, the workshop hence takes an approach of introducing concepts, allowing participants to “munch over it” – and then pick out whatever they deem is relevant / workable for them as a practical path on their way to entrepreneurship.

We also concluded the NEN workshop with the session which provides a comprehensive sense of a set of tools which have increasingly become the got framework used by high potential startups, with examples of real-life case studies of successes such as PayPal and Fab and how they pivoted along the path to success. The speakers were Anand Vemuri and Apurva Agarwal.

We also conducted the Lets Venture workshop with the aim of learning Startup Funding Made Easy in association with Helion Ventures.

We also conducted competitions like Mind Your Business which gives exposure to the real scenario of a startup. It gives experience to the players in raising capital for their firm in a very competitive environment. As entrepreneurs would be trying to raise money to fulfill their objectives, investors will be trying to maximize their profit and make more money. It would be very interesting and challenging for everyone to compete with one another and emerge as the best entrepreneur and investor.

Pitch Your Product was organized with an aim to provide the participants with an opportunity which can transform their innovation in the form of as simple and small scale an initiative as their summer project or any other such research works into actual entrepreneurial ideas. This event examines the ability of the participants to evaluate the market or the customer needs or their distribution strategy. Long story short, this event requires the participant to be a full-fledged entrepreneur in the theoretical sense.

Decrypt is the good old case study competition. It is all about reading the situation and taking decisions – sometimes obvious and sometimes tough. It is about solving problems that are critical to answer for an entrepreneur at some stage.

E-Cell & GDG IIT Kanpur hosted a Hackathon. Each team was required to form a team of 2-4 in Hackathon and was encouraged to work on a product idea that solves a problem.

5.3. PRIME'83:

Promoting Research, Innovation, Motivation and Entrepreneurship (PRIME83) is an initiative generously supported by the alumni of 83' batch. This programme aims to develop a culture of creative ideas with focus on technology within the students of IITK. The PRIME83 INNOVATION AWARD is E- Cell's flagship event launched to develop technological entrepreneurship in the campus.

This year also we are conducting prime smoothly. We have already selected top ten projects and are in the process of allocating them with the mentors which will help them through the remaining of the year for their projects.

5.4. Future Initiatives:

As a future Initiative we are planning to conduct the Namo Hackathon which is to be conducted by the PMO India. We will be organising the event in the Kanpur region.

We are in process of filling out the forms and we will soon be coming up with the dates of the Hackathon.

Moreover, the responsibilities of the club are more or less the same as the Alumni Contact Programme and ACP is handling all those responsibilities efficiently on its own.

8. GLDC

The Council has two different suggestions regarding GLDC:

- The Club should be closed and the fund allocated to it should be distributed among the different councils specifically for lectures/talks.
- If the Club is not closed then a review of its responsibilities by the Students' Senate.

9. Council Suggestions

- The role of NGO based Hobby Groups and their place in the council should be discussed in the Students' Senate.
- The council needs a consolidated event in GC which will help all the clubs under its umbrella to spread their reach. This event can be a mixture of events and sessions that will help the clubs spread their message.
